McConaghie Denies C.C.C. Is Destroying Refuges For Birds In Park Here

Answering a criticism of civilian conservation corps activities on the battlefield here, written by the Rev. D. W. Woods, of Gettysburg, and appearing in a Philadelphia morning newspaper, today, James R. McConaghie, superintendent of the National Military park and civil works' administrator, denied the charges contained in the Rev. Mr. Woods' communication.

The local minister pointed out that the conservation corps workers have cleaned out the underbrush so completely that the refuges and nesting places of 35 to 40 different species of birds which feed upon insect pests have been destroyed; that many wild flowers have been ruined and that thorn bushes and alders have been cut down.

Temporary Movings
Mr. McConaghie said it was only natural to expect that four hundred men working in the park would drive birds from the woods. "But

HOSPITAL HAS BUSY WEEK-END

Nine Patients Are Admitted And Two Submit To Operations.

With nine patients admitted to the Warner hospital over the weekend, several of them in serious condition, physicians and nurses were busier than any time in recent months.

Three of the patients were brought to the hospital in the Gettysburg ambulance.

One of the most critically ill patients is C. A. Gain, of New Oxford, vice president of the Aero Oil company, operators of a chain of Fleet-Wing service stations. He is reported to have suffered a stroke, Sunday, which followed an illness from diabetes. Mr. Gain is about 40 years of age.

Roland Feiser, New Oxford, and Madeline Smith, Gettysburg R. 9, were admitted to the hospital, both suffering from pneumonia.

2 Operated Upon

Two patients, Elias Hoffman, well known farmer, of Biglerville R. 2, and Robert Weller, New Oxford, were admitted to the hospital and both submitted to operations for appendicitis, Sunday night. The condition of both was reported improved today.

A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hartlaub, Gettysburg R. 3, at the hospital, Sunday, died at the hospital, Sunday night.

Other patients admitted include Ned Walter, Biglerville, whose tonsils were removed today; Mrs. S. G. Lawrence, New Oxford R. 3, and Janie Tonsil, colored, of Gettysburg. Mrs. Ella Weaver, Hanover street; Mrs. Donald McClellan and infant son, of Emmitsburg, and Florence Chipley, Gettysburg R. 2, were discharged as patients over the weekend.

Indian Relics Sought From County Residents

Delving into Indian lore in Adams county, Dr. Louis E. King, archeologist in the office of Dr. Robert Lee Jones, historical technician for the Gettysburg national military park, today asked the cooperation of residents of Gettysburg and Adams county in his studies which he plans to push vigorously as soon as weather permits.

Doctor King today received a letter from Niles C. Nelson, curator of pre-historic archeology for the American Museum of Natural History in New York city, informing the local archeologist that he would be glad to receive a collection of Indian relics from Adams county for exhibition in the museum.

Indians Lived Here

Mr. Nelson informed Doctor King that available records disclose that Iroquois Indians lived in the northern part of Adams county, while Algonquians roamed the southern portion of the county and Maryland.

Doctor King said he is investigating a report that an old Indian burial ground is located about a mile southwest of Big Round Top. As soon as he learns whether such a burial ground exists and as soon as weather permits and permission is received from the owner of the land, excavations will be started.

The local archeologist said he would welcome receipt of any stories about Indians in Adams county and would like to see some of the collections of Indian relics which are owned privately by residents of Gettysburg and Adams county.

Local Collections

Some of the larger collections of Indian relics in the county are those of William Zinkand, Lincoln Way east; P. Mark Bream, Carlisle street, and John Eiker, who resides on the Tract road.

Having a display of Indian trophies and relics in the American Museum of Natural History would be a distinct honor for Adams county, inasmuch as this county is not represented by an exhibit there.

That will be only temporary," he asserted. "As soon as the men are out of the woods, the birds will return. The same is true of other game in the park."

"Thorn bushes are being cut down, but they are not being grubbed out," Mr. McConaghie continued, "and when spring comes will grow again. Some of the dense underbrush is being removed so as to beautify the park, but this will all grow back again."

"We are not cutting down or removing any alder bushes or any red bud or Judas trees. In fact, the only work the C. C. C. men are doing on the battlefield now is the cutting down of dead trees and the removal of dead branches from growing timber."

Rev. Woods' Letter
The letter of the Rev. Mr. Woods follows:

"Sir—May I, through your paper, call upon nature-lovers and all good citizens to protest against the work of the civilian conservation corps? Here at Gettysburg they have cleaned out completely all the undergrowth of a good part of the woodland. This means that they have destroyed the refuges and nesting-places of thirty-five to forty different species of birds which feed upon the insect pests that attack the trees of the forest and orchards. The birds gone, the pests will freely ravage the trees, which the conservation policy is supposed to protect and benefit. In so thoroughly cleaning out the undergrowth, mowing it with scythes, as I saw them doing, they trample and destroy many wild flowers. Some parts of the woodland have been rendered hideous."

"Further, they have cut down thorn bushes and alders. The thorn bush is a most beautiful native shrub. In winter its bare twigs are an etching in silver; in the spring it is covered with bright, glistening green leaves, and in early summer is a mass of white bloom; later

FIRE DESTROYS MARYLAND HOME

Overheated Stove Causes Blaze; Cold Weather Hampers Firemen.

Fire started from an overheated stove burning to the ground the dwelling house occupied by Frank Eiker, along the Frederick road a short distance south of Mount St. Mary's college last Friday morning.

The fire must have been smoldering for some time and eaten its way through the chimney to the upper rooms, Mr. Eiker told firemen. When he first discovered the blaze it had made considerable headway upstairs.

When the Emmitsburg fire company arrived on the scene the house was ablaze and salvage of the property was beyond hopes. The only water supply was from a well too small to furnish sufficient water even if the home could have been saved.

Pump Pipes Freeze

The extreme cold froze the water in the pipes and cracked the piping on the pump of the fire engine and rendered the equipment useless.

The Thurmont fire company was called after the Emmitsburg pump was out of commission but the house was practically burned to the ground when the Thurmont firemen arrived.

Nearly all the furnishings in the upper story and some of the stored goods in the cellar were lost in the blaze.

The house, a two-story log structure with weather boarding, was owned by Arthur Shaeffer, who lives nearby. Mr. Shaeffer said the house is one of the oldest in this part of the country.

PASTOR URGES SACRIFICE FOR CONGREGATION

Suffering, Obligations Necessary To Christians, Says Rev. Sternat.

TEXT TAKEN FROM LUKE 18

"One cannot become a Christian without assuming spiritual and material obligations," said the Rev. H. W. Sternat, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville, in his sermon Sunday morning.

His subject was, "We Go Up To Jerusalem," and the text was taken from Luke 18:31.

"The season of the lengthening days, called Lent, is at hand. 'What of it?' says the man of the world. The Christian bows his head and says nothing."

"So many of us are just living and that's all. So much of life is purposeless. Multitudes are too indolent to come and drink deep at the fountain of spiritual life. The average church member is going but hardly knows where. The Lenten call is first of all a summons to purposeful living. All Christian living is for some purpose. Jesus Christ lived a life that was directed toward the attainment of a definite goal. He came into the world to show us God."

Must Accept Christ
"Anyone who would become a Christian must accept Jesus Christ as Saviour. This means to welcome Christ within your life. It means to adopt his purposes. How else can Christhood be developed? Naturally it involves self-denial. The Lenten call invites you to practice the discipline of suffering. If we would really learn to know Christ we must willingly suffer with Him."

Continuing the Rev. Mr. Sternat said: "All who have been so fortunate as to escape present hardships and inconveniences whether by fair or foul means are likewise reminded by the Lenten call to voluntarily suffer something with Christ. The Master suffers when His own suffer. You may readily suffer with Him by denying yourself and trying to alleviate the hardships of some of your needy neighbors. If your gain was wrongfully acquired you had better wisely respond by making restitution. Let us think deeply. Let us openly confess our sins."

"When we heartily respond to God's wonderful love manifested in Jesus Christ we become aware even in trials and troubles that nothing can possibly defeat the good within us. The Lenten call is to inevitable success and glorious triumph. God cannot fail. When we begin to really live for Him and sacrifice for Him nothing can separate us from absolute victory."

In conclusion the pastor said: "If

Lenten Regulations Are Announced To Catholics

Regulations for the observance of Lent, which begins on Ash Wednesday of this week and continues until noon of March 31, were announced in all Catholic churches of the country on Sunday.

The Lenten regulations were contained in a special booklet prepared by Bishop Philip R. McDevitt, of the Harrisburg diocese which includes Adams county, and were read by the various priests in county parishes.

The law of abstinence forbids to everybody over seven years of age the use of meat on all Wednesdays and Fridays of Lent, on Ember Saturday, February 24, and the forenoon of Holy Saturday.

It permits the use of butter, cheese, milk, and eggs every day, and the use of lard and drippings in the preparation of foods. It likewise permits fish, oysters and other sea foods to be taken with meat on the days when meat is allowed.

All the Wednesdays and Fridays of Lent, Ember Saturday and the forenoon of Holy Saturday are days of fast and abstinence. No meat is permitted on these days; one full meal and two collations are allowed.

The following persons are exempted from the law of fasting:

Those who are under 21 years of age; those who have completed their 59th year; the sick and convalescent; those who are engaged in hard labor or in duties which exhaust their physical strength; those who are bearing or nursing infants.

By reason of a papal indulgent workingmen and their families may eat meat on any day of Lent except Fridays, Ash Wednesday and the forenoon of Holy Saturday. According to this dispensation those members of the family who are bound to fast may eat meat only once a day on the days when meat is allowed.

AUTO INJURIES CAUSE DEATH OF MRS. R. WITMER

35-Year-Old Selinsgrove Woman Had Multiple Fracture Of Pelvis.

CAR SKIDDED AND UPSET UPON HER

Injuries suffered in an automobile accident on the Harrisburg road, near Schriver's crossing, February 2, proved fatal to Mrs. Ralph Witmer, 35, of Selinsgrove, at the Warner hospital Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Witmer suffered a multiple fracture of the pelvis, concussion of the brain, shock, and an abdominal injury. The woman's pelvis was broken in four places, causing a severe abdominal injury which hastened her death.

The victim was riding in a sedan, driven by her sister, Miss Minnie A. Rine, also of Selinsgrove, and was en route to Frederick to visit a niece, Miss Mary Harriet App, a student at Hood college. Miss App planned to accompany Mrs. Witmer and Miss Rine back to Selinsgrove for a short vacation.

Miss Rine's machine skidded on the brow of a hill, just south of Schriver's cross roads, left the highway and crashed head-on into a steep embankment on the west side of the highway and upset.

Mrs. Witmer was thrown out of the sedan when it upset and was pinned under the machine. Several members of the civil conservation corps camp, 307th company, near Waynesboro, who came upon the scene of the accident shortly after it happened, lifted the machine from Mrs. Witmer's body and brought her to the Warner hospital.

Miss Rine escaped injury, but damage to her car was estimated at $200.

Mrs. Witmer's body was taken back to Selinsgrove, Sunday afternoon, by an undertaker from that place.

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, said he signed the death certificate as an accidental death and that an inquest would be unnecessary.

FREEZES AND BURNS

Considerable damage was done to the automobile of Logan A. Heltebride, Railroad street, last Friday night, when the machine froze and later, after it had thawed out, it caught fire and damaged pistons, valves, gaskets and bearings.

A civil works' administration project, to grade and drain four miles of alleys in the borough of East Berlin, has been approved by Eric H. Biddle, Pennsylvania CWA administrator. The project will provide work for five men.

Mr. Humrick and both brides are employed at St. Joseph's college. Mr. Keepers is an employee of a filling station near Emmitsburg.

FORGETFULNESS IS UNDOING OF CHECK PASSER

Tom Clark Tries To Pass Bad Check On Same Store He Fleeced In '31.

ADMITS USING GAG SINCE '22

Forgetfulness on the part of an alleged "rubber check" passer proved his undoing here, Saturday evening.

On October 26, 1931, a man, who represented himself as Tom E. Clark, stopped at Stoner's tire store, Baltimore street, purchased an inner tube and gave Ralph Stoner, son of the proprietor of the place, a check, made payable to "cash," for $8. The tube cost about $1.40 and Ralph Stoner gave the man $6.60 in change.

At that time Clark represented himself as an employee of the state highway department. The check was drawn on the First National bank here. After the check was deposited, Stoner discovered that the man had no account at that bank.

Tries Same Store

On Saturday evening, Clark returned to Gettysburg, drew another check on the First National bank, made payable to cash, for $8, and went to Stoner's tire store where he again represented himself as an employee of the state highway department. He again asked to buy an inner tube.

Ralph Stoner recognized the man and also the check which Clark proffered in payment. Asking the would-be customer to wait, Stoner ran to state police headquarters, only a short distance away in the same block, and asked Trooper William Gressang to accompany him.

When the officer and Stoner returned to the store, Clark was gone. The Oyer tire store, Carlisle street, was then notified to be on the lookout for the man, and a half hour later, the state police received a call from the Oyer store that the man they were looking for was there.

Forgot '31 Act

Trooper Gressang placed the man under arrest and took him to the sub-station for questioning.

Confronted there by Stoner and informed of his alleged passing of a worthless check for $8 there in 1931, Clark said he had forgotten that he had ever been in Gettysburg before.

When taken into custody, Clark had the $8 check which he attempted to pass at Stoner's tire shop in his possession. According to police, it was identical in every particular, even to six small half moons which the writer drew under his signature, with the check he gave Stoner in 1931.

Clark told Trooper Gressang that his wife died in 1922, and that since then he has been roaming the country, "earning" his living by passing alleged worthless checks.

Lately, Clark has been living in York, and state police broadcast a description of Clark and his method of passing the alleged worthless checks.

Among the children in Arendtsville who are reported ill with measles are Louise Jacobs, Stuart Frost, Jack Kimple and Billy Warren.

Miss Carrie Lady has resumed her teaching in Hershey after spending the week-end in Arendtsville with her mother, Mrs. H. C. Lady.

Rev. J. H. Mumper Preaches Sermon At Pre-Lenten Service

The annual pre-Lenten retreat of the Harrisburg conference of the East Pennsylvania synod of the United Lutheran church opened this morning in St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Harrisburg.

A confessional and Holy Communion service was held this morning, followed by a sermon by the Rev. E. A. Repass, of Columbia.

The Rev. Alton M. Motter, graduate of the Lutheran theological seminary and now pastor of Redeemer Lutheran church, Harrisburg, was in charge of the devotional service this afternoon.

The sermon this afternoon was preached by the Rev. J. Harold Mumper, of Lititz, son of Mrs. Jacob I. Mumper, of Baltimore street. The Rev. Mr. Mumper is treasurer of the conference.

MacCracken Fined $100; Is Arrested

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce for air, was arrested today on a senate warrant charging contempt of that assembly shortly after he had paid a $100 fine for holding the District of Columbia supreme court in contempt.

The arresting officers immediately took their prisoner to the senate where it was presumed his trial would be held without delay. The arrest occurred almost on the dot of 1 p. m. at the court office where MacCracken had just paid his fine in preference to 24 hours in jail.

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue held the Hoover assistant secretary of commerce for air in contempt because he had claimed in a writ of habeas corpus that he was held in bodily restraint by the senate sergeant-at-arms, Chesley W. Jur-sey.

3 SAVED BY A BALL OF STRING

Trio Saved From Starvation In 60 Below Zero Weather; Snared Rabbits.

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 12 (AP).—A ball of slender twine was one thing which stood between three prospectors and possible death by starvation in 60-below weather in Canada's sub-Arctic, said a copyright story published Sunday in the Edmonton Journal.

For seven weeks the trio, Lorne Brotherson, Frank Dwell and Frank Morrison, were marooned on the vast expanse of Great Bear lake before they arrived at shelter. Three times airplanes passed them as they trudged through the snow on a 175-mile trek to Cameron bay, but their frantic signals were unnoticed.

"The last seven days were the hardest," the paper quoted Brotherson as saying. "The temperature was around 60 below zero and we had no food. However, we managed to get through with only slight frostbites to fingers and faces."

Morrison was quoted as saying: "I think the means of our safe arrival lay in a ball of fine twine I happened to have with me. We manufactured snares from this twine. Without it we would have been unable to catch rabbits, which kept us alive."

The men said they were followed by four large ravens. Experienced Northerners say these birds, like vultures, follow animals and humans for miles, waiting for them to drop.

Former Slave Dies At 127

Holly Springs, Miss., Feb. 12 (AP).—Death last week claimed Minerva Stone, negress ex-slave, who boasted of 127 full years of life and who recently gained publicity by spanking her 100-year-old daughter "for being disobedient."

Minerva lived most of her life in this small town and sent a husband into the war between the states. She lived on the war pension for the last several score years. Her century-old daughter is as spry and hearty as Minerva was.

Lindbergh Protests Air Action; Wires Roosevelt

New York, Feb. 12 (AP) — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh Sunday night telegraphed President Roosevelt that "the condemnation of commercial aviation by cancellation of all mail contracts and the use of the army on commercial air lines will unnecessarily and greatly damage all American aviation."

The telegram added that "your order of cancellation of all air-mail contracts condemns the largest portion of our commercial aviation without a just trial," and "your present action does not discriminate between innocence and guilt and places no premium on honest business."

The telegram was made public by Henry Breckenridge, Lindbergh's attorney, at the former's office.

Colonel Lindbergh, who is technical adviser to Transcontinental and Western Air, one of the companies whose air mail contract was cancelled, was not present.

REDS BATTLE PARIS POLICE

Federation Of Labor Strike Called In French Capital; One Is Killed.

Paris, Feb. 12 (AP).—A red flag waved from the statue of the republic in the Place de la Nation late today as police fought communists across a barricade in the Boulogne suburb of Paris.

The pitched battle—which the ministry of the interior described as one of several unimportant disorders—came after 50,000 persons had paraded in a capital where practically all business was suspended because of a federation of labor strike.

The strike was "against Fascism and was for one day only." All disorders reported, including the death of a laborer, were on the outskirts of the city.

Paris, Feb. 12 (AP).—A nationwide general strike against "Fascist reaction" began at midnight, with 1,000,000 workers ordered to stay idle for twenty-four hours, stopping virtually all activity in France. The strike was a warning to the government of Premier Gaston Doumergue against the adoption of dictatorial method. It was expected to be the biggest strike since 1919.

The start of the strike found most of France asleep after a day of national anti-Fascist demonstrations by socialists and communists but the walkout was expected to make its effect felt soon after daybreak.

Over 100,000 in Paris Out More than 100,000 workers in the Paris region alone were called out. The tie-up in city transportation threatened to prevent non-striking workers from reaching their offices and factories, which have been ordered picketed by strike leaders.

As a threat to the new Doumergue government against possible adoption of dictatorial methods to draw France out of the morass of rioting and public disorder, effects of the stoppage of work remained doubtful.

For one thing, the government was prepared for it, having brought to Paris squads of soldiers and sailors from the army and navy technical corps to keep public utilities running by operating telephone and telegraph lines and manning gas, electric and water plants.

To Seek Emergency Powers Also, it was indicated authoritatively that Doumergue's "political truce" cabinet was likely to seek emergency powers and then send parliament home for several months.

Doumergue remained at his desk throughout the day, striving to calm the country, but issued no official word concerning the strike.

Indications pointed to an almost complete shut-down of business and industry in Paris and throughout the country. Food shops were to remain open, but the people faced going without mail, newspapers, theatres and possibly telephone and telegraph facilities for the duration of the strike.

Three Pauls, One Pauline In Announcement of Banns

An unusual record for a week, the like of which never occurred in the history of the church and probably not for years to come will it occur again, was made the past week in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Emmitsburg.

Four publications of matrimony were made at one mass, the name of three of the grooms being Paul and the name of the bride-to-be of the fourth couple, Pauline. Two of the Pauls were married at a double wedding and the other Paul's wedding was followed by a funeral. Pauline is to be married Tuesday morning and her sister the evening before.

On Sunday of last week at the 10 o'clock mass the banns between Paul Topper, of Bonneville, and telegram follows: "The President, White House. "Your action of yesterday affects fundamentally the industry to which I have devoted the last 12 years of my life. Therefore, I respectfully present to you the following for consideration: "The personal and business lives of American citizens have been built up around the right of just trial before conviction. Your order of cancellation of all air-mail contracts condemns the largest portion of our commercial aviation without just trial.

"The officers of a number of the organizations affected have not been given the opportunity to a hearing and improper acts by many companies affected have lost not been established.

Cites Right to "Fair Trial" "No one can rightfully object to drastic action being taken provided the guilt implied is first established, but it is the right of any American individual or organization to receive fair trial.

"Your present action does not discriminate between innocence and guilt and places no premium on honest business.

"Americans have set their lives in building in this country the finest commercial air lines in the world. The United States today is in the lead in almost every branch of commercial aviation.

Air Mail as Aid to Progress

"In America we have commercial aircraft, engines, equipment and air lines superior to those of any other country. The greatest part of this progress has been brought about through the air mail. Certainly most individuals in the industry believe that this development has been carried on in cooperation with the existing government and according to law.

"If this is not the case, it seems the right of the industry and in keeping with American tradition that facts to the contrary be definitely established. Unless these facts leave no alternative, condemnation of commercial aviation by cancellation of all mail contracts and the use of the army on commercial air lines will unnecessarily and greatly damage all American aviation.

25-50 Years For A Bank Robber

Philadelphia, Feb. 12 (AP).—William Sutton, jail-breaker and bank robber, today was sentenced to 25 to 50 years in prison by Judge Harry S. McDevitt, after a trial lasting 45 minutes.

In pronouncing sentence the court said: "That is my answer to spineless men and weak-minded women who criticize me for imposing the maximum sentence on criminal characters like you."

He added: "In the meantime I will see that you are indicted as a fourth offender and that you are sentenced to spend the rest of your life in prison where you belong."

Bullets Battle F. & M. On Tuesday

Franklin and Marshall has advanced the scheduled league basketball game with Gettysburg, from Wednesday, until Tuesday night, this week. The reason F. and M. gave for the change in dates was because of a glee club concert scheduled for Lancaster Wednesday night.

The Bullets are leading the league and F. and M. is trailing having lost three league games so far this season.

DAY OF PRAYER

The annual World's Day of Prayer service at Fairfield will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lutheran church, with the various Protestant ministers in the community participating. The service is open to the public.

Three University of Chicago assistant football coaches are budding lawyers—Marchy Schwartz, of Notre Dame; Julian Lopez, of Loyola of the south, and Sam Horwitz, ex-Maroon star.

Miss Alice Orendorff, Emmitsburg; Paul Humerick and Miss Ida Brawnner, Paul Keepers and Miss Regina Humerick and Martin Stouter and Miss Pauline Bollinger, all of Emmitsburg, were announced.

Even four publications at one time is a rare occurrence in a small town parish and even more singular is the fact that four of the names are alike.

On Tuesday morning the Topper-Orendorff wedding was followed by the funeral of Mrs. John Little. In order to give the sexton time to change the decorations of the altar from a wedding to a funeral, the latter had to be postponed half an hour from schedule.

The other two Pauls were married at a double wedding at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

AUSTRIA FIGHTS FOR ITS LIFE

Machine Guns, Hand Grenades And Artillery Used In Pitched Battles.

Vienna, Feb. 12 (AP).—From 32 to 42 persons were reported killed in pitched battles between socialists and authorities today as socialists proclaimed a nation-wide general strike and the government retaliated with martial law.

Martial law was enforced in Vienna, Graz and Linz. The fighting in Linz last night accounted for 31 to 41 of the dead, while one was killed in Vienna.

A large number were reported wounded and it was reported that 60 of these might die.

The deaths in Linz came in two pitched battles. In the first, machine guns and bombs were used, killing 16; in the second, the government forces used artillery and 15 to 25 more were reported killed.

The government mobilized every available military force to suppress the uprising.

At Linz it sent artillery into action after 16 men had been killed in a battle at socialist headquarters. That battle began when government forces attempted to raid the headquarters and the socialists tried to beat them off with hand grenades. The police and soldiers replied with machine guns. They occupied the headquarters.

A detachment of socialists retaliated with a raid on the police station afterward fortifying themselves on the bank of the river Danube.

It was there that the artillery was unlimbered in an effort to shell the rebels into submission. A nationwide strike has been called. A police inspector was killed in a riot in Vienna.

The government of Englebert Dollfuss replied to the socialist move with the declaration of martial law. It was ruled that any civilian caught with a weapon should be shot immediately.

County Girl Is Married Saturday

Miss Eileen McMaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMaster, McSherrystown, and Gerald Liversberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Liversberger, of Edge Grove, were married at a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. L. A. Reudter, rector, officiated.

The bride was attended by Miss Marion Liversberger, sister of the bridegroom. Lawrence McMaster, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bride was a coat suit of brown and yellow with hat and shoes to match and carried a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Wagner's Wedding March from Lohengrin was played as a processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the recessional.

Immediately after the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Liversberger will reside in a newly-furnished apartment on High street, Hanover.

Dies Trying To Save Her Sister

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—Ten-year-old Pearl Wade, helplessly crippled with infantile paralysis, died a heroine. Confined to her armchair, she was left to watch over her four-year-old sister, Sally, while their mother was away. Sally played on her sturdy legs. In the kitchen she lighted a match as she had been her mother do. Her clothing caught fire and she screamed. Pearl, able to move only her head and arms, called Sally. She hugged the blazing girl, trying to smother the flames. Her own clothes and the chair caught on fire. They were found dead.

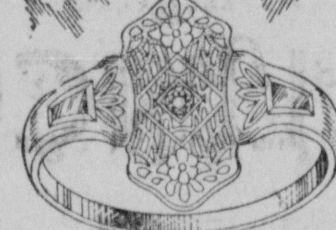

Democrats Pick Guffy And Earle

Harrisburg, Feb. 12.—Assembled by a man who can give federal jobs of carrying out his orders, the democratic state committee on Saturday threw political sagacity to the winds and endorsed a ticket handpicked and headed by the patronage dispenser, Joseph F. Guffy, Pittsburgh, as a candidate for the nomination for United States senator.

Pleas that the committee permit Pennsylvania democrats to select their candidates at the May primaries and thus bring a united front to bear against the republican party went unheeded as the Guffy steam roller, fueled by jobs and promises of jobs, stamped the committee's endorsement on Guffy, on George H. Earle, 3rd, Philadelphia, for governor; Thomas Kennedy, Hazleton, for lieutenant governor; Thomas A. Logue, Philadelphia, for secretary of internal affairs, and Assemblyman Chester H. Rhodes, Monroe county, for superior court judge.

Efforts of a group of leaders to keep the committee from giving approval to the slate were ignored as the committee, meeting in the

FOR LINCOLN—WASHINGTON—AND —THE U. S. A.

L I N C O L N

LINCOLN REPUBLICANISM BADLY NEEDED

The celebration of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln should include a careful reflection upon the principles that not only made of him a world figure for all time to come but which made up the foundation of the Republican Party.

In the first party platform and in the first inaugural address we find a solemn resolution that "the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially of the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depend."

Speaking to a Democratic gathering at Cooper Institute on February 27, 1860, we find him defining and glorying in his conservatism and that of his party as follows:

"What is conservatism? Is it not adhering to the old and tried, against the new and untried? We stick to, contend for, the identical old policy on the point in controversy which was adopted by our fathers who framed the government under which we live; while you with one accord reject, and scout, and spit upon that old policy and insist upon substituting something new."

On Washington's birthday, 1860, he declared he would rather be assassinated on the spot than surrender the sentiment embodied in the Declaration of Independence.

These principles of states' rights, of adhering to tried policies and of personal liberty must continue to be the principal plans of Republican Party platforms.

This is more especially true when capital and labor are establishing codes for exploiting the consumers, when universal political power is being concentrated in the federal government and when unthinking people are clamoring for a dictatorship.

The Republican Party, Republican principles, the far-sighted vision of a Lincoln, are needed today as never before.

THROUGHOUT the United States Republicans are gathered today to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln and to subscribe anew to those rock-bound principles of government that cemented this once divided nation. Today's observance is the "Bugle Call" of the time-honored Republican party for a united and cooperative unit in this era of emergency.

Republicans are urged to "fall in" line to promote the principles of the great Emancipator, Lincoln, and the founder of our nation, Washington.

A united party, indomitably subscribing to an objective of a common-good for all; an impartial representation.

An Evening Thought

But, as the storm-dipped eagle nurtures her eaglets amid the thunder-scarred crags and peaks of the loftiest mountains, and teaches them to float with joy on the lightning-torn bosom of the blackest storm, so had the Almighty, while the storms of war's horrors were marshaling their forces of awful wrath, raised up the man of liberty amid the majestic forests of a western home. Like ancient Israel, the prayers, tears, and groans of mothers and sisters had gone up a pitiful memorial to God. And when the thunders of cannon, on land and sea, began to shock the continent with their fearful din, forth came the choice of God—the man of liberty—Abraham Lincoln. Notwithstanding that various official mistakes were made in the commencement of his administration, never has there a greater man graced the American soil, nor the whole circumference of God's footstool, than Abraham Lincoln.—Rev. J. A. Brockett.

Out of the Past

Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg
Times the files reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The bill for the endowment of our college has become a law. It grants $3,000 for a college edifice and $3,000 a year for five years, to the support of the institution. The number of students to be educated gratuitously is reduced to fifteen.

The "Philomathean Society" of Pennsylvania College celebrated their third anniversary Friday evening last, in the German church.
The interesting exercises were commenced with an address to the Throne of Grace by the Rev. Mr.
Ruthrauff. Addresses were then delivered by three members of the society.

It is enough to say they did honor to themselves and to their society. The exercises were closed with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Watson and the benediction by Professor Krauth.

The Harmonical Band of Hanover performed at intervals during the exercises, which added very much to the interest of the occasion. The church was crowded to overflowing and a general feeling of gratification prevailed.

The remarks of Mr. Stevens, on the College-bill, which we published today, were revised (says the Harrisburg Reporter) and corrected by that gentleman. We learn, however, from a gentleman who heard him, that the reported speech gives but an imperfect idea of the spirit of that delivered.

With Us Daily

Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened to you:

But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.

If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the Spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.

But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evil doer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.

Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed;
but let him glorify God on this behalf.

For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God; and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?
And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?

Wherefore, let them that suffer
according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

1 Peter 4:12-19.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

FORCED TO IT!

INITIATIVE is one of the greatest assets anyone may have! Without it, a person simply drifts, follows the crowd, or waits until pushed along by the force of others, or circumstances.

Emergencies and depressions have their value which is not always appreciated. I used to know a man—now dead—who was a very good friend of mine. In early life his father turned him from his home, for some reason, which is not important so far as the incident is concerned. He was forced to sleep in the parks of the city to which he went.

But when I knew this man he was the publisher of two powerful newspapers of his town, owned a great manufacturing plant, employing hundreds, as a director of several banks, and had made at least two men governors of his state, through his influence and initiative! Forced to do what he had no idea at the first that he could do!

Such instances could be named without number. We do our great things, we rise to our greatest heights through force of circumstances.
A man fights hardest when he is cornered. And incidentally, he thinks hardest, which is most important of all.

Pioneers are always sturdy folk. They must ever be on the alert.
They cannot delay or procrastinate. They count costs as they go along, and rarely complain because of their hardships and sacrifices. How little credit, we, their posterity, give to them.

Forced circumstances arouse the initiative in us all, and stir us to action and to thought. Often these circumstances change the entire course of our lives and put us on the track for which we were intended in the first place.

So, therefore, instead of complaining because of our apparent ill-luck, we should be thankful that we have latent qualities within us that a good fate is able to reveal.

Long ago a wise man said that "necessity is the mother of invention."
It is mother to much more—to a new life, to new viewpoints—and, perhaps, genuine happiness!

Today we pay tribute to the man who was the greatest emancipator of one form of human bondage.

Abraham Lincoln was born February 12, 1809.
And he emancipated the slaves.

What this country needs is more emancipation.

Countless thousands of the population are slaves to worse overseers than Simon Legree.

Fears, Fakes and Fancies,
Cosmetics, cathartics, and colds,
Rum, rheumatism, and rumors,
Worry, work and want,
Weight, weariness, and wickedness,
Fear is one of the greatest enemies of mankind.

Fakes fool the folks.
Fancies are usually grotesquely exaggerated untruths.

Rum, without moderation, runs to ruin.
Rheumatism racks without rhestraint.

Rumors are remorseless rubbish.
Fancies are worthless and wearying.
And so on and so forth.

Not so very long ago, there were but two classes of mental patients, so far as medical science was concerned.

The sane and the insane.

Today, medical science is more understanding towards mental hygiene.

It is a most significant factor in preventive medicine.

Thousands of unfortunates, wandering in a maze of uncertainty and doubt, have been set on the right road to mental health through some very simple, but effective, rules, laid down by the psychiatrist (a physician specializing in mental hygiene).

That is true emancipation.
There is no greater slavery than control of the mind by some debilitating force, within or without.

Mental hygiene drives the clouds away.

Don't be in a fog.
Emancipate yourself through sound medical advice.

DO YOU KNOW?

For a period of ten years, centering around 1900, Pittsburgh and Allegheny had the distinction of having the highest typhoid death rate of any city in this country and probably of any large city in the world, running at times as high as 150 per 100,000 population. In 1932, the case rate was 6.4 per 100,000 and the death rate, 1.3 per 100,000, due to improved filtration of drinking water.

DEDUCTION FOR BUSINESS
EXPENSES

Deductions for business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers and must have certain qualities to be allowed. Such deduction must be for an expenditure in connection with the maintenance and operation of the taxpayer's business or business property; it must be an ordinary expense and it must be a necessary expense.
In insisting upon the latter qualifications, the bureau of internal revenue is upheld by the board of tax appeals and the courts. Ordinary and necessary expenses are only those which are usual and essential in the case of similar taxpayers,
"and do not include extraordinary and nonessential expenses."

Typical business expenses of a mercantile establishment are amounts paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, rent, light, heat, water, stationery, stamps, telephone, property insurance, and delivery expenses.

The expenses of a manufacturing business include labor, supplies, repairs, light and heat, power, selling cost, administration, and other similar charges.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting, and marketing of crops, including labor, cost of seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (other than his dwelling), and small tools used up in the course of a year or two. A taxpayer may conduct more than one business and claim the business deductions of each.

BLAZE THREATENS
PART OF TOWN

Franklintown—For several hours

Just Folks

by
EDGAR A. GUEST

LINCOLN

So great was Lincoln, and so small we stay

That God must wonder if our eyes are blind
To high examples of our fellow kind;

If those who come to us to show the way,

Fashioned as we of spirit and of clay
By Him intended and by Him designed

To break the petty fetters of the mind, Vainly outlive the hatreds of their day.

Rugged was he, yet tender as a child;

Strong as a rock against life's storms he stood.

Mocked and derided, patiently he smiled,

Content to wait and battle for the good.

His sad, stanch soul with sympathy grew great

He pitied men, but never stooped to hate.

II

Lincoln could weep, and now and then the tears

Stained his gaunt cheeks. At other times a jest

Soothed the heart-anguish burning in his breast,

But none can find where bitterness appears

To mar the record of his troubled years.

Friend to the weak, the troubled,
the oppressed,

To them he gave his utmost and his best,

Which is the glory of all great careers.

Yet still men seek revenge for fancied wrong;

Plot selfishly some place of pride
to gain;

Stay little 'neath the bludgeonings
of pain,

Thinking that hate an malice make them strong!

They turn to Lincoln in his birthday hour,

But fail to learn the secret of his power.

fire raged in the central part of this borough, and threatened to spread to dangerous proportions before it was brought under control.

The blaze, the origin of which has not been determined, broke out between two barns on the adjacent properties of Mrs. S. U. G.
McClary and the John Thomas estate. The former is tenanted by Harlie Nell and the latter by Bruce Byers. The fire was discovered about 8:45 p. m., and had gained so much headway that the two buildings could not be saved. Each was two stories in height, about 15 by 30 feet in dimensions.

Sutherland Holds
On To Pitt Post

By GEORGE SIERER

Pittsburgh (AP)—In signing Jock Sutherland to remain as head coach of football for the "indeterminate period" the University of Pittsburgh has assured itself of the continued services of one of the acknowledged masters of funda-mentals among present-day gridiron mentors.

For nine years Jock Sutherland (he's Dr. John Bain Sutherland as head of the department of physical education) has been building up a tradition of thorough football schooling at Pitt. In most of these nine years the rumor boys have been rumormongering Sutherland to some other school—notably Yale and Ohio State—but those close to gridiron affairs at the university rarely have taken seriously the idea of a separation of the silent Scot and Pittsburgh.

The Latter Day Saints church
now has 85 seminaries in its school system in five western states.

NEW ACTRESS
SCORES A HITRussian Film Star, Anna
Sten, Triumphs In Role
Of "Nana."

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Anna Sten's recognition by the American movie public may come as a slight grace note—borrowing a musical term—to the recognition of her native Russia by the United States.

Miss Sten has been in Hollywood about as long as Katherine Hepburn, who is regarded by some as the screen's major dramatic "discovery" of 1933.

Producer Samuel Goldwyn kept his blonde light under the bushel of long and costly preparation before launching her in "Nana," now completed, but already there are pre-viewers inclined to place her as the "discovery" of 1934—even though it is a bit early to be awarding such laurels.

A Romance of '68

"Suggested" by Emile Zola's novel,
"Nana," directed by Dorothy Arz-ner, is imbued with a realism that for the most part rings true despite the changed viewpoints wrought by the lapse of six decades.

It was in the Paris of 1868 that Zola set his tragic romance of the street-girl Nana who became a theatrical sensation but lost everything because she happened to fall in love —with the wrong man.

Miss Sten brings to her portrayal a vivid personality that some pre-viewers predicted would register inevitably.

Other principals are Lionel Atwill, Richard Bennett, Phillips Holmes, Mae Clarke, Muriel Kirkland and Jessie Ralph.

Miriam's Problem

Another girl with a love problem is Miriam Hopkins in "All of Me," directed by James Flood for Paramount.

Miriam plays a modern lass who loves her college professor, a restless, adventurous soul portrayed by Frederic March. March wants marriage and a fling at an engineering job on Boulder Dam. Miriam wants to "keep what we have" and not risk the "disillusionment" of marriage.

At a crucial moment in her indecision the pair are thrown by fate into the underworld love affair of George Raft and Helen Mack. Playing god angel to George and Helen, step-children of romance, Miriam learns all about true love.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO
CONSTIPATIONMr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:
"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811
Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ANTI-WAR PACT
SIGNED BY FOUR

Turkey, Greece, Rumania and Jugoslavia Sign New Peace Agreement.

Athens, Feb. 12 (AP).—The Balkan nonaggression pact, which it is hoped will change the whole history of this stormy peninsula, was signed formally Friday by representatives of Turkey, Greece, Jugoslavia and Rumania.

The pact was seen as offering an opportunity for economic collaboration by the long nonco-operative 55,000,000 inhabitants of these four countries.

The absence of envoys from Bulgaria and Albania cast a shadow over the ceremony in the historic audience chamber of the Greek academy, but it was said Bulgaria might accept later.

Signatory nations agree among other things to guarantee one another's frontiers for five years.

Friday Greece was represented by Premier Panayotis Tsaldaris, Rumania by Foreign Minister Nicolae Titulescu, Jugoslavia by Bosko Jiftitch and Turkey by Foreign Minister Tewfik Rushdi Bey.

The frock-coated dignitaries passed into the academy between statues of Socrates and Pericles.

The mighty Athena and the glorious Apollo looked down from the roof as the statesmen crossed the Ionian columned portico.

After the ceremony, the peace-makers reviewed a military parade. White-kilted, pom-pom-slipped Greek hillmen, who once formed the royal guard, were the most colorful figures of any battalion in the procession.

Balkan amity will expand under the influence of an American orchestra at a big ball planned to climax the celebrations.

Truman Kirk, a former United States sailor, is the band leader. He pleaded another engagement, but Premier Tsaldaris personally commanded the performance.

The gold pen used in signing the pact will be preserved in the Athens national museum.

THREE BANDITS BIRD
AND GAG AGED WOMEN

Sanbury, Feb. 12 (AP).—Three unmasked bandits Thursday night invaded a home on the outskirts of Northumberland borough, bound and gagged two aged women, ransacked the residence and then escaped without any loot.

The women, Mrs. Lavina Shippe, 71, and Mrs. Maria Bollinger, 69, escaped bodily harm although they were bedfast today suffering from shock.

"We want your money," one of the bandits said after the invasion of the home.

Mrs. Shippe and Mrs. Bollinger, reputed to be wealthy, told the intruders that they kept their funds in a bank.

Nevertheless, the bandits searched the whole house but did not take anything else when they were unable to find money.

After the trio left, Mrs. Bollinger managed to free herself from her bonds and then walked a block in zero weather to notify a man who in turn called the police.

ORDERS CANNON TO SHOW
HOW MONEY WAS SPENT

Hague, Va., Feb. 12 (AP).—Judge W. T. Mayo, of the domestic relations court, Westmoreland county, Friday issued an order requiring Richard M. Cannon to file with the court by February 19 a statement showing how the money received from the parents of the children he was keeping had been expended.

Richard Cannon is the son of Bishop James M. Cannon, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He came here recently from California to establish a school.

Judge Mayo transferred custody of the children from Cannon to Leamerle Trader after investigating complaints that too harsh disciplinary measures were being used.

CHINAMAN SEES SLAYER
OF HIS FATHER HAUGED

San Quentin, Calif., Feb. 12.—In the tradition of his race, Quang Shick wore a "poker face" Friday as he climbed the steps at the gallows platform at San Quentin prison, went through the routine and plunged through the trap.

In the same tradition, Lee Toy looked on.

Lee is the son of Lee Huey Doo, Colusa, California, merchant, for whose murder Quang Shick went to death.

And although one of the twenty witnesses collapsed as Quang's body dropped, Lee Toy was unmotional, unperturbed. Twelve minutes after the trap was sprung when doctors had pronounced Quang dead, Lee spoke:

"He killed my father," he said dispassionately. "I watched him hang. That is good."

The university of Oklahoma football squad voted Ralph Graham, Kansas state fullback, their greatest opponent in 1933.

Reno, Nevada, paid a $50,000 emergency loan from funds derived from liquor licenses upon repeal.

China Attempts To Stop Superstition

Peiping, China, Feb. 12 (AP).—China is in the midst of a war on superstition today—a war opened with the approach of the nationwide New Year's festival, February 14. The first guns are being directed against the traditional practice of trying to gain earthly favor by making lavish offerings to the gods and goddesses in the Chinese Pantheon.

In the first such exhibition held in the Orient, the Peiping Educational museum displayed statistics and charts on how a million dollars is spent each year for incense, votive candles, miniature ivory pagodas, sandalwood offerings and other superstitious tokens to win favor. The money might be used, the museum points out, to feed thousands of victims of the floods and famines, afflicting the country or to buy dozens of airplanes for the government.

The museum estimates that the residents of Peking spend $500,000 annually for imitation gold and silver money to be burned as an offering to the dead or upon firecrackers to frighten away goblins, devils and dragons.

Total Fees In Year Is $418,905

The department of state in 1933 received and paid $418,905 into the state treasury. The largest item of income was $131,376 from the bonus on original issues and increases of capital stock of corporations. Fees for issuing certificates of authority to foreign corporations doing business in Pennsylvania under the new corporation code amounted to $104,470, and for filing powers of attorney by such corporations $69,200. Letters patent and certificates of incorporation issued to domestic corporations accounted for $66,677, registration of fictitious names brought in $32,406.

Britain's royal air force flew more than 40,000 miles in 1933. There were 39 fatal accidents.

Tells Of Huge Airplane Profits

W. E. Boeing, Pacific coast airplane manufacturer, told a senate committee investigating mail contracts that he realized potential profits of $8,955,464 in 1928 from an original investment of $259. (Associated Press Photo)

BLOND GODDESS

By Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, in the Yucatan jungle on a hunt for Bill Langton, his missing aviator pal, rescues instead Janice Kent, the movie star, and Greene, her press agent. They were held prisoner by the subvener, at the top of an ancient Mayan pyramid. But almost immediately, the natives capture the party, and severely wound Frank into the bargain. He awakes, a prisoner, with Greene by his side. They explore their cell.

Chapter 30

THE MESSAGE

High above them were two windows, one on each adjacent wall. Frank guessed that this was either a corner room, or that the cell abutted upon a courtyard. The window-openings were barred, as was the square orifice in the studded door.

He approached the door and studied it. He lifted his fist and struck it.

"What are you trying to do?" asked Greene.

"Get somebody here, and tell 'em we want water."

"No good. I tried that while you were 'bye bye'."

Grahame unlaced a boot. "If at first you don't succeed," he said tugging at the heel, "make some more noise."

He pounded the door with his boot-heel. After a period he heard a voice outside the door ask him in Spanish what he wanted.

"Water."

The voice spat some reply, and they heard the man's soft footsteps retreating.

Grahame redoubled his pounding. Soon the voice spoke again and Grahame replied in voluble Spanish.

"What are you telling him?" Greene asked curiously.

"Telling 'im we'll die without food and water, and that he'll catch the devil if he lets us."

The man without seemed to hesitate before replying, then, muttering, shuffled away. Grahame smiled.

"Bet you a dime we get the water."

The minutes sped away. An hour passed. The heat within the closed room was stifling. While the pain in his head diminished, Grahame doubted if he were capable of any great effort. His right arm and shoulder were worse than useless.

There seemed scant chance of making a break for freedom from this situation. It would take a miracle to alter their circumstances for the better. He wondered how long they would keep them here, and for what ultimate purpose.

They seemed, these savage people, utterly ruthless about the lives of their male victims. His thoughts instinctively refused to dwell on Janice's fate. He knew too well what might happen to her.

Many of the warriors had white skins, sun-bronzed to be sure, but undoubtedly white. The eyes of some of them were blue, and their hair yellow.

He thought, too, of Hollywood, which by now had assumed the status almost of a heavenly abode to him.

It wondered just why he had walked out of Janice's house that night after she had so curtly refused him. He even wondered whether she had refused him, or whether the slap she had dealt him was rather the result of over-strung nerves.

In any case, it was obvious that his action had been responsible for most of what had come since. For evidently if he had talked it out with Janice that night they might at least have come to some agreement that would have made it possible for him to continue with Myberg.

And had he continued with Myberg he would have been a member of the company that had been sent to Mexico, and thus would have been able to protect Janice at every step. Or at least to try to protect her.

He would certainly never have permitted the company to advance blind into that most dangerous port of Mexico. He might very well have brought it into the wilds, it is true, but certainly not under the "protection" of Ortega.

"Hindsight is better than foresight," he quoted grimly to himself as he looked about his cell.

The whole debacle had been the result of a girl's slap—and a man's stunned pride. The rancor of the one had gone, but the consequences of the other remained.

He wondered again at the fidelity of Juan, the chance that had brought the boy to him, and whether the youth was by now safely out of the territory of the bloodthirsty subvener.

He hoped so fervently, for certainly a boy who had volunteered against his own interest to aid a white man, one who had saved his life, in fact, deserved safety at the least.

One more consequence of a girl's sudden action in Hollywood weeks before. That slap had precipitated a train of death—like the string of dominoes when the one end had been pushed over by the casual finger of a child.

It would not seem so utterly tragic, Frank decided, if there were anything he could do to right matters. Once again, and with the utmost weariness, he surveyed the "field." There was the window, there was the door. He thought suddenly of the observation of the chicle buyer he had met in New York.

DUCKS HERE LONG AGO

Washington, (AP) — If America's duck hunters should be transported a million years into the past they would feel very much at home. Ducks and geese, much like the waterfowl today, thrived in those days in North America, the Smithsonian institution has discovered.
